State Methodists Will Incorporate

Report of Kingston District Shows Substantial Material and Spiritual Progress—Keeps Same Board.

The New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in its annual session at the Washington Square Methodist Episcopal Church, voted Thursday to incorporate under the religious corporation laws of the state, thus ending a system of government by a board of incorporated trustees in force since 1843. The old system was abandoned because under it there arose difficulties affecting the legal recognition of bequests in churches in the conference, and also because under the religious corporation laws of New York such trustees are granted to religious corporations in the handling of funds for religious purposes.

The Rev. Richard E. Wilson of Johns Ferry, chairman of a committee of nine members, four of whom were women, presented the articles of incorporation and by-laws. The trustees under the new organization will be identical with the present board, which will petition the Legislature for dissolution next year.

The morning session was taken up with the reading of reports by district superintendents of the New York, Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh areas, all showing substantial material and spiritual progress in the district. The full report on the Kingston district will be found in another column.

Dr. Luther F. Lovejoy, of Chicago, secretary of the stewardship committee of the Methodist Episcopal World Service Commission, in appealing to the conference to cooperate in placing the church upon a sound business basis, declared that although the total income of 5,000,000 Methodist members of the United States exceeded $2,000,000,000, less than $100,000,000 was donated to the church. Mr. Lovejoy insisted that 10 per cent—the Old Testament rule—of that income be dedicated to church purposes and said that through this method the vexing problem of insufficient salaries for ministers and inveterate endowments for Methodist schools and colleges could be eliminated.

The sermon at the morning session was delivered by Dr. George A. Shaban, of Trinity Church, Newburgh. The luncheon address was by Bishop Francis J. McConnell. The Rev. Dr. Henry Howard, of Australia, supply pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, addressed the afternoon conference.

Oratorios

Oratorio is the name given to a sacred musical composition, the subject of it being generally taken from the Scriptures. The name, oratorio, is said to be derived from the fact that these musical compositions were first performed in an oratory or private chapel attached to a church. The first oratorio is said to have been produced about 1550, by St. Philip Neri.

GANNETT CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE OF CORNELL

FRANK E. GANNETT

Frank E. Gannett, of Rochester, owner of newspaper in six New York State cities, who worked his way through Cornell University as a news writer, has been nominated by the alumni for a position on the board of trustees. This week 30,000 graduates of Cornell are casting ballots in the annual election. Ezra B. Whitman of Baltimore, Joseph P. Pennington of Philadelphia and Gannett have been nominated. Two positions are to be filled.

Mr. Gannett is president of the New York State Publishers Association and a past president of the Associated Editors. Although Cornell numbers among its trustees such men as George F. Baker, Charles M. Schwab, Judge Frank H. Minkoff and Judge Cuthbert W. Potts Gannett, it elected, will be the only newspaper man on the board.

BOY CHOIR AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The boy choir which sang so beautifully at the Easter service last Sunday morning at the Rondout Presbyterian Church will sing again at the evening service 7:30 this Sunday. The first anthem which includes a solo by George Kent and a duet by Francis Phillips and Harold Darling, will be "Alleluia, Christ is Risen," by DeKepp. The second anthem will be "Easter Joy and Love Abiding," also by DeKepp. The following boys form the choir: Sopranos—George Kent, Harold Darling, William McClenahan, Francis Phillips, Herbert Van Deusen, Woodrow Diehl, George Diehl; altos—Arthur Scott, Warren Russell. The pastor's sermon will be "David the Boy Scout."

Tickets for the Benedictine Ball

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital held Wednesday afternoon in the nurses' home, reports were heard from the various ball committees, all reports being complete except that of the ticket committee. In order to facilitate the completion of this committee's work, patrons are urged to pay for their tickets as soon as possible. The kind cooperation of the auxiliary's many friends is again solicited in this instance.

While an entire account of the ball proceeds cannot be given as yet, indications are that the high financial standing of previous balls will be surpassed this year. At the meeting on Wednesday, Sister Margaret, reverend superintendent of the hospital, and Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, expressed great pleasure over the splendid success of the 1925 Benedictine Ball and thanked committee chairman and aids for the loyal support evidenced throughout the entire preparation. This brilliant success was not won by the labors of a few, but rather by the united efforts of a great many, all inspired with the same ambition to make this the most outstanding achievement in the history of the auxiliary.

The officers and members of the auxiliary realize how much they are indebted to the general public and take this opportunity of expressing sincere thanks to the people of Kingston and Ulster county for their generous support and loyal cooperation, without which this tremendous task could not have been accomplished. The attitude of friendly interest that was met on all sides smoothed over many a hard task and gave zest for the next. Too many to list individually gave liberally of their time, their talent, their merchandise, their money. For even the least of favors received, the auxiliary is grateful.

The meeting on Wednesday was held in the spacious living room of the nurses' home and the members present were privileged to view for the first time the lovely room in its new livery. All the appointments of the room have received attention. The furniture has been refurnished and newly upholstered in attractive tapestry. Several new chairs have been purchased for both living room and library; three beautiful new lamps add a cheerful note; while the windows in both living room and library and charmingly curtained in silk gauze with moirai draperies, with like treatment on the double French doors leading to the porch. A piano, radio and victrola complete a most home like place for the student nurse to spend her hours of leisure. This is one more achievement in the ever-growing list of accomplishments undertaken by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, April 8.—Services were held in St. Peter's Episcopal Church Thursday and Friday at 10:30, and a special Easter service Sunday morning at 10:45.

Henry Sutherland and family spent Sunday with relatives in Kingston. A handsome new Bible was presented to the Methodist Church Sunday morning by the Builders' Class, in memory of Mrs. Susan Van Leuven, who died at an advanced age some time ago, and her Christian influence and sunny disposition have been felt by young and old for many years, and the gift of this Bible as a token of esteem and appreciation, will keep her memory green. Mrs. Susan Van Leuven was often called "Saint Susan of the Methodist Church."

A class of probationers were received as full members at the M. E. Church Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Miller and son of Newburgh were guests of Miss Addie Connor on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Prindle have been entertaining relatives from New Jersey for a couple of weeks.

The friends of Mrs. Vina DuBois will be glad to learn of her recovery from double pneumonia. Although still very weak, she is improving nicely.

Mrs. Martha Pales of Kingston was a guest in this village Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gillespie entertained some friends at their home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Etta Osterhout is spending some time with relatives in Schenectady.

Harry Cornish is acting as assistant postmaster.

The few spring-like days have started some of the villagers raking lawns, and one family has already planted a small garden.

The town board held a meeting at the town clerk's office Monday night. Some men are at work on the State road, which is badly in need of repairs in many places.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eiston and children have moved to Madison, N. J.

Miss Esther Macbrouck is critically ill at her home on Main street.

Measles and chicken pox have made their appearance in this village. Herman Krom is confined to his home with rheumatism.

The public schools are closed for a week's vacation.

The Rev. George Webster is attending the annual session of the New York Conference which is being held in New York city.

Mrs. S. M. Cole of Enos has been spending a short time in this village.

Crisis in British Coal Industry

London, April 9.—A crisis in the British coal industry seemed a certainty today when a delegate conference of miners voted to adhere to their policy of opposing wage reductions, the lengthening of hours of labor and the substitution of agreements by districts instead of national agreements.

The decision of the conference is tantamount to a rejection of a large portion of the recommendations of the Royal Coal Commission.

The government subsidy expires on May 1, and at that time the operators threaten to reduce wages, which action would undoubtedly lead to a national coal strike, perhaps spreading to other industries.

Premier Baldwin is expected to confer with the miners' representatives tonight.

LAKE KATRINE

Lake Katrine, April 8.—George Shells is spending Easter week at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracey Munson of Oneonta are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shaw.

Miss Alida Brewer is spending a few days with relatives in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Huxton Pierson were guests at Mrs. Pierson's former home on Sunday.

Alfred Montovani and family motored to Newburgh last Sunday.

Miss M. Bird of New York is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ferguson.

Mrs. William Brink of Oneonta is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brink. Clifford Shumaker of Montclair, N. J., spent Easter Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Hooker.

Cleveland Gates, who has been ill, is reported better.

Mrs. Oliver Ten Broeck and son are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ten Broeck.

Louis Damer of New York was a week and guest of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Annett, and LeRoy Brower of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday at Mr. Brower's camp on Parish Place.

Regular evening service will be held Sunday evening, April 11, at the hall. Christian Endeavor service held at the close of the Sunday school session. Mrs. Frank Brink, leader. Topic, "Christian Love."

What threatened to be a very disastrous fire swept across the fields from the railroad on Tuesday afternoon, coming near the buildings on William Hooker's property, but owing to the prompt and efficient help of the neighbors was soon extinguished.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kieffer attended the funeral of Mrs. Kieffer's uncle, William Brewer, of Newburgh, Thursday.

Allegorical Description

Oil was used for burning in lamps as early as the time of the Patriarch Abraham. It was the custom of the ancient Jews to anoint with oil persons appointed to high offices, as the priests and kings. The oil so used was the oil of the olive common throughout the East from very early times. One of its uses was that of an article of diet. A kind of corn and oil and wine was a brief description of a rich, attractive country.

"Schools" for Teachers

Normal schools take their name from the Latin word "norma," meaning a rule. The name now is applied especially to schools established and maintained for the instruction and training of teachers. Such a school was opened in Paris, France, on January 20, 1792.

Security of Material Makes "Briars" Costly

It is said that French soil no longer yields the precious briar root. Spain has but little. Italy has about run dry, and that it is in Corsica that the finest specimens are found. It is the root of the shrub that matters. In French Africa the light and sandy soil renders the culture of the briar root rather barren, and this "briar" is used for the cheaper grades of pipes.

In Corsica the roots have a tough skin to gain hold in the rocky soil. A Corsican briar root may weigh 10 or 20 pounds when it is brought rough to the factory, but when cut down this will give no more than a dozen sticks for use. From these emerge, perhaps, two sturdy top-top, finest "best Eastern briars." And as such a pipe can be fashioned only from root which is in the region of a hundred years' growth, it is not to be wondered that a perfect briar pipe is costly.—Manchester Guardian.

Confessions There is often a strong temptation to speak when by divulging a confidence, one might easily establish character, clear up a wrong, or help a friend. If we are true to ourselves we must refrain. For if we tell our secrets to help, we are in danger of others' treachery.

The wise course is to refuse to give one's hand regarding the confidence of another, and to leave the matter to the truth. It is doing so, we can prevent our secret being used to mislead others.

Elks' Officers Are Installed

At the meeting of Kingston Lodge, No. 580, B. P. O. E., held Thursday evening the following officers elected for the coming year were installed by Acting Grand Exalted Ruler Morton Low:

Exalted ruler, John R. Redican.
Esteemed leading knight, William Edelmuth.
Esteemed loyal knight, George Burt.
Esteemed lecturing knight, John Bennett.
Esquire, John Edwards.
Chaplain, Charles Ryan.
Organist, Joseph Reynolds.
Delegate to Grand Lodge convention, James A. Higley; alternate, Martha Oshin.

Secretary, Charles Mullen.
Treasurer, Thomas Kennedy.
Tyler, Howard Van Kleeck.
Exalted Ruler John R. Redican has the distinction of being the youngest exalted ruler between the Canadian border and Florida. Mr. Redican served as esquire in 1922 and was raised to esteemed lecturing knight in 1923. In 1924 he became loyal knight and last year was esteemed leading knight. His election as exalted ruler is the first time in five years that a candidate has been elected by a unanimous vote. A resolution was offered and adopted Thursday evening to present all the past exalted rulers of the lodge with an honorary life membership.

A Pinochle Party.
The degree team of Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge will hold a pinochle party on Thursday evening, April 22, at 8 o'clock, at Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street. There will be prizes and refreshments and the public is invited to attend.

Alexander the Great, the most renowned hero for ancient times, was known as the bicorned lord on account of the two horns that were stamped on all his coins minted between 336 and 323 B. C.

Make Homes in Desert
The Sahara desert is a vast arid waste with only a few oases or fertile spots, but it is not wholly uninhabited. Nearly a half-million people live and make their homes on its treacherous sands.

Odd "Settlement"
In settlement for a large order of engineering material Soviet authorities of Russia sent a shipment of 3,000,000 eggs, the contract calling for payment "in kind."

Another Point of View
If there is anything more distressing to the earnest, thoughtful man than to see so many people live without working, it is to see so many without living.—Boston Transcript.

COST OF WHITE HOUSE GROWING

About Eight Millions Spent on Mansion—New Roof Needed.

Washington.—The White House needs a new roof which will cost, it is estimated, about $500,000. The home of the President has come to be looked upon so much in the nature of a perpetual national monument that items of upkeep are usually a matter of surprise to individual citizens.

The Treasury department figures, nevertheless, indicate that the official residence of the President of the United States has cost the taxpayers of this country, from the time it was built, approximately $8,000,000 for building, care, repairs and various furnishings. And this does not include more than $1,000,000 expended at various times for a variety of other purposes. To include these miscellaneous amounts, refurbishing last summer, and the repairs now under consideration, would bring the total cost of the President's house to nearly $10,000,000.

Furnishings Become Obsolete. Nearly every President has added materially to the furnishings. This was not because, in the main, the furnishings were not adequate, but because of wear and tear. Then, too, at various times in its history the furnishings have become obsolete in the view of the various mistresses of the White House, and this has brought about many alterations.

As decades followed decades, it is not to be wondered at that such sums have been expended. The nation's eyes are constantly fixed upon the home of the Chief Executive and thousands of citizens every year make pilgrimages to the real seat of the national government. This great horde of visitors makes it imperative that certain of the rooms be completely refurbished and redecorated almost every year.

The first appropriation made by congress for the White House was included in a general fund of $200,000 for the construction of public buildings at the site selected by the first President. Part of this sum was to be used for the construction and furnishing of an adequate residence for the nation's Chief Executive. The appropriation was not made until some time in 1793.

The first sum set was almost immediately demonstrated to be insufficient for the purpose, and it was not many months before congress was asked for additional funds. These also proved to be inadequate, and it was several years before the residence was finally furnished.

This early White House was far from being a pretentious affair. It looked like a giant box. Nor were the grounds at all what they have since become, in spite of the fact that a great deal of money was spent on them from year to year. The grounds, like the residence, had to have a great deal of care, the sum of $4,420 being spent in 1861 for the bringing of Potomac water over to the grounds for irrigation purposes. This, at the time, was considered a remarkable improvement.

In 1816 the British reached Washington and burned nearly all the government buildings. Including the White House, from which President Madison had fled only a few hours previous to their arrival. The fire did not wholly destroy the mansion, but left it in such a state that it was practically necessary to reconstruct it from cellar to attic. Some of the walls were found to be in good shape and thus it was rebuilt virtually according to the original plans; the architect of the first building was, in fact, in charge of the rebuilding.

Some White House Figures. Rebuilding required several years. In 1820 the commissioners made a report in which they stated that the work was far from complete, as it was not possible to furnish the inside. The report of the commissioners showed the following expenditures on the White House:

From the beginning to January 1, 1820: President's house $22,267.94
Beginning the President's house 248,490.00

Total $270,757.94

These figures do not take into account the salaries paid the architect and other officials, but do include the wages paid to laborers and mechanics.

From the day that the White House was again ready for occupancy congress began appropriating annually large sums for its maintenance. Sometimes the house needed refurbishing; sometimes the occupant felt it did not suit his large or small family, as the case might be. One and all simply asked congress for the money to refurbish it in accordance with his own special tastes. Practically every President who has occupied the house has purchased new furniture, china, silver and cut glass. The bills for these often ran rather high, or so some thought.

The following table shows the expenditures by periods since the early days:

From the beginning to 1864 $1,515,568.97
From 1864 to 1877 1,222,327.92
From 1877 to 1893 2,208,954.37
From 1893 to 1901 248,490.00

Total $5,295,341.26

Now these figures, interesting and large as they are, do not include smaller sums of money that might be charged against the upkeep of the mansion. From 1913 to 1921 they include only such appropriations as are charged to "repairs, fuel and so forth," "lighting, etc." "extraordinary repairs." They do not include salaries of servants and in many instances the cost of repairs to the grounds, as these were included under certain War department expenditures and were hardly separable from other District of Columbia items.

President Harrison found the White House rat-infested and Mrs. Harrison had the floors removed in places to rout them from their runways. At one auction of old White House furniture of the earlier periods was sold a rat trap which Lincoln himself used to catch the rodent that had ruined his best suit of clothes.

The new White House roof which will cost $500,000 will replace the present elaborate one of copper. It is likely that the present sleeping quarters now located on the roof will be preserved, although not used by the President's family. These were added by President Taft for the benefit of servants.—New York Times.

Princeton Man Revives

"Cold Light" in Dead Fish
Princeton, N. J.—Returning to his Princeton laboratory after an eight-months' research tour in the marine laboratories of Naples and Messina, E. Newton Harvey, professor of physiology at Princeton, disclosed new information about his theory of "cold light" before the Biological assembly.

"Cold light" is the popular term for the rays emitted by certain animals, such as the firefly, without appreciable heat. Among the experiments conducted by Doctor Harvey while abroad was work in restoring luminescence to dead fish by the use of the ultra-violet ray. He also reported observations on a type of deep-sea squid which emits a luminous substance when pursued which, he said, takes the place of the ink fluid emitted by the ordinary cuttlefish in flight.

In discussing animal luminescence, he declared that he believes it results from oxidation in animals, as in ordinary illumination. The heat thus produced is so inappreciable that it cannot be measured, not exceeding, in the opinion of Doctor Harvey, one-thousandth of one degree.

Goods Go to Gold Field by Air and Dog Teams

Hudson, Ont.—Transportation of supplies from here to Red Lake, the scene of a new gold discovery, is one of the great problems confronting the scores of prospectors going to and those already at the camp.

Every conceivable means of transportation has been adopted. Supplies have been carried to camp by airplane, dog team and horse, and snow crawlers have just been put into operation.

It is a difficult trail—160 miles of snow and ice—but with hurried construction work being carried on, better conditions are expected to prevail soon.

Reports are being established along the trail, and the first crawler to attempt the trip to the first depot, 20 miles distant from here, negotiated the trail with success.

With the construction of a possible highway, horse transportation for heavy loads will be feasible. Already some prospectors have entered the Gold with their horses, but there is a scarcity of feed for both horses and dogs at the present time.

State Charities Work in Ulster

The following report of the public utility committee set forth some of the activities of the Ulster County Committee of the State Charities Aid Association:

There have been five meetings of the several committees during the past year. Meetings of the general committee meet every quarter and those of the children's every month.

At a special meeting held in August last the constitution was amended so that the children's committee should be composed of five members instead of three as heretofore. Mrs. Searing was made chairman of the newly organized committee. Members appointed were the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson and Miss Florence Corbitt.

There was two changes made in the personnel of the Ulster committee during the year. The Rev. Dr. Seely was obliged to withdraw for a time his active participation in the county work. He therefore resigned as chairman of the children's committee and the Rev. Dr. Boeve was elected in his stead.

Miss Green, the former efficient secretary, had been obliged to resign on account of illness and Miss Beatrice Brown was appointed to take the office.

The president, Mr. Fessenden, and the county agent, Mrs. Doremus, have visited the County Home and also the Institution for the Mental Delinquents at Napanoch.

A report has already been published by the State Charities Aid

Committee of the visit paid to the City Home by Mrs. William N. Fessenden and Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey. The official report of the agent with its detailed account of all the work done during the year is about to be issued and will be sent to the public officials, each member of the board of supervisors and each member of the Ulster County Committee of the State Charities organization. An appeal is made for additional membership, which is only one dollar a year but as membership increases the greater amount of beneficial and extended work will be the result.

The value of the county agent in assisting public officials in giving effective care to dependent children is indicated by increased appropriations in a number of counties.

The members of the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association are fortunate in having such an efficient worker as Mrs. Doremus, the county agent, which is greatly appreciated by them. She combines knowledge with efficiency and tact. She is truly "The Children's Agent."

IN ANY SEASON

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MY MOTHER'S mother had a way of saying things that others say. But saying them a whole lot better. I never saw her write a letter. I never heard her make a speech. I never heard her really preach. And yet she said, well I remember: "The flowers are never out of reach. I've found them even in December."

She looked for flowers all the year. And always found the flowers here. When others thought the summer over.

It's easy in the time of clover. To find the blossoms by the wall; But, when the leaves began to fall, Perhaps with drifting snow around them, She looked for flowers, after all, And mother's mother always found them.

She found them even in her grief. Yes, she would lift some fallen leaf. And find some bud forever starting. Some comfort in the hour of parting. In every trouble she would find Some reason for content of mind; Yes, even in the darkness groping. When hearts were sore, and eyes were blind, She always found some cause for hoping.

Her back was bent, her hair was gray. Yet mother's mother had a way Of always looking for the roses; And there were more than man supposes.

It all has helped me quite a lot. Not only June, but June or not— I've always tried to find a reason. However cold the weather got. For being glad in any season. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE SPORT

"MR. TWILLER SCRATCH?" asked Verna Binnion. "The same," said Twiller Scratch. "Oh, I'm so glad to find you in! Us girls are getting up a fund to teach foreign children in America their native language, so they can talk to their fathers and mothers in case the parents can't speak English, and if you would care to—"

"Delighted!" said Twiller Scratch heartily. And he made out a check for $50.

"The boss cert'n'y is a sport," the stenographer murmured admiringly to the bookkeeper. During the next two hours Twiller Scratch bought a set of books entitled, "Eight Thousand Selected Chinese, Siamese and Portuguese Proverbs," for $8 from a book peddler because the poor devil looked so hard up, subscribed $20 to a fund for sending overcoats to the Dyak savages in Africa, and gave the office boy $10 for his birthday.

Then he went to lunch with Fred Osprey and insisted on paying the whole check, which came to $8.

"Twiller, you're a sport and everybody knows it," said Osprey as he patted him on the back.

"Not a tall, not a tall," said Scratch modestly, as he dropped a dollar bill into a burly beggar's overhanging tin cup.

And in the course of the afternoon he loaned Artie Slatner $30 and gave a messenger boy a $2 tip.

That evening after dinner his wife said timidly, "Twiller, everything for the table's so high, and I've run a little short of money."

"Money! Money! Money!" snapped Scratch. "Didn't I just hand you a whole five-dollar bill the day before yesterday?"

And he dodged behind the evening paper and didn't come out again till his wife had gone to bed. (© by George Matthew Adams.)

TO SHIPMENTS HELP RAILROADS

Cars Show 3,040,000 Carloads Were Transported in Year 1925.

At the automotive industry was of the large customers of the railroads during 1925 is disclosed by the records just made public. This
railroads enjoyed record earnings year.

Eight carloads of automotive parts hauled by the railroads in 1925 totaled 3,040,000, according to J.
Larkin, chairman of the traffic managers conference of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.
Total included shipments of motor and parts, gasoline used in automobiles, road-building material and freight. Many other items, such as building materials and equipment for factories and garages, less carload shipments of parts and accessories and express matter, are included, because there is no separate classification for these.

Report of Statisticians.
Statisticians find that it would take the passenger and freight locomotives and all of the various kinds of light cars of the railroads nearly days to handle this business at time; all of which is another way stating the fact that of 51,177,962 loads of freight of all kinds handled by the railroads in 1925, more than three million carloads were involved by the manufacture and use of motor cars.

The importance of this business to railroads is emphasized by comparison with the shipping of other principal commodities in 1925. Coal leads with 46,982 carloads, followed by forest products, 3,741,063; grain and grain products, 2,300,199; ore, 2,018,854; live stock, 1,635,252. Shipments of automobiles and parts alone during the year approximated 820,000 carloads, compared with 740,578 in 1924.

Record Railroad Earnings.
The record railroad earnings coupled with the record carload shipments of motor products are significant of the co-ordinate interest of all lines of transportation," says the automobile chamber's statement.

"Motor transport is one of the major customers of railroads and, more important still, it aids the rail lines developing national resources and wealth. Just as the railroad is more economical in long-haul transportation so in many forms of short-haul travel the motor vehicle is the most efficient."

Superior Driving Rules

Outlined for Closed Car
With a view to familiarizing motorists with changing conditions, the American Automobile association outlines the four points for the average driver who buys a closed car:

1. Learn that you may be traveling at a higher rate of speed without realizing it, particularly where the grade is slightly downward. Speed is a hazard when you are not aware of your actual speed.

2. Learn that physical comforts offered by the closed body in adverse weather do not alter the highway hazards. Your hands may be warm but they may be just as much ice on the wheel as when you formerly shivered in your open car, or stayed at home.

3. Learn that though you can see out better in your closed car than you could through rain curtains the few instructions to vision, such as the body posts, are at points you are not accustomed to.

4. Learn that other drivers in closed cars are usually as unfamiliar with the new conditions as you are, and that the safest plan is always to give a bit to the "other fellow."

Proper Use of "Choker"

If mixture is thought to be too lean pull up slightly on the "choker" on the dash. This gives a richer mixture. If the engine speeds up, it shows too lean a mixture and low speed adjustment should be opened until the engine runs properly. Of course, the "choker" should be returned to its original position.

Do You Remember—

When automobiles could be counted about the town square as easy as buggies and wagons can now?

When "free air" could not be even given away?

When the watering trough was the "filling station"?

When it was possible to keep within the fifteen-mile speed limit?

When your greatest worry was meeting an automobile, not driving one?

When you were either considered "well-to-do" or downright extravagant if you owned a car?

Making Substitute for Defective Ignition Coil

While touring recently a friend of mine burned out the ignition coil. The only repair man in the neighborhood had nothing but a few spare parts for light cars, yet he fixed the ignition system fairly well with a substitute coil. This was made from one of the

Substitute for Burned Out Ignition
Coil

small box coils that are used in combination with the magneto ignition of small cars.

Three insulated wires were soldered to the contact points on the coil casing and connected, as shown in the illustration. The distributor connection was made with a high tension wire. The vibrator of the coil was bridged by screwing the contact points solidly against the core of the coil.
—Popular Science Monthly.

Burn Lights in Daytime to Avoid Overcharging

Because you see a car running in the daytime with the lights on do not think that the driver has been out all night and is just getting in. Perhaps he has, but lights burning in the daytime is not a sure sign. More than likely the owner is on a long trip during which he runs principally during the daylight hours. Consequently he does not have an opportunity to use the stored-up current in his battery, and in order to keep the battery functioning properly and not getting overcharged he is burning his lights to use up some of this pent-up current.

This burning of the lights in the daytime is frequently done on new cars that are being driven overland from the factory. The drivers of these machines do no night driving nor do they do much starting and stopping of the motor in the driving hours. While running they naturally are generating current and use this means of using up some of it.

Rain Frequently Cause of Mean Short Circuits

When a car stops in a heavy rainstorm suspect the distributor, the top of the coil or the plugs and wires of being wet. Water is an excellent conductor of electricity. A driving rainstorm will enter through ventilation cuts in the hood and often manage to produce a short circuit which stops the car as effectually as if it were robbed of its spark plugs. The only remedy is to wait for the affected parts to dry or to locate them and dry them off with rags. The best remedy is prevention. Small covers of oil-cloth to fit over the coil and distributor, similar in effect to the leather hood which usually protects magnetos, will keep out the fine water spray which does the damage and prevent an annoying stop under uncomfortable circumstances.

FOUR-TRACK SUPERHIGHWAY COMPLETED

The first four-track superhighway of concrete has been completed between Detroit and Pontiac, Mich., a distance of 30 miles, and there is planned. The width is 66 feet and the new road has been christened
"Fordway" system. It ranks with the best highways of the world.

tively and results will surely follow.

Rupture Expert

FOR Men, Women and Children

COMING TO KINGSTON

Representing
W. S. RICE
ADAMS, N. Y.

The Rice Rupture Expert, personal representative of William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., will be at the Stayre Hotel, Kingston, N. Y., Saturday, April 10. Every ruptured man, woman and child should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this Method demonstrated and have a Rice appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge unless you are satisfied to keep the Outfit after having the appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressing springs; nothing to congeal the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life. Thousands have reported cures through the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from trussing forever? Anyway, it will keep you looking like a man and will help all about the face. Remember this expert will be here only one day, then your opportunity will be gone. Just ask at the hotel for the Rice Expert and they will tell you the time. Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 p. m. Women and young children require personal attention of Rice Expert to separate appliances. Don't miss this great opportunity to see this Expert on Rupture.

SCHOOL DAYS

WHO SAID
"Let us not lay down our arms until we have gained independence."

FOLLOWING the battle of Lexington, fought between the American Continental troops and the red coats of England, the followers of the Colonial cause gathered in Miner's tavern, not a great distance away, to talk over the first conflict of the war which was to mean independence and immortality, or defeat and the stigma of "rebel" attached to their names.

Among those who led this mass meeting was a young man, but twenty years of age, a valued member of the Continental forces, who was fated to rise to a captaincy under Gen. George Washington and to die on a British scaffold only a little more than a year later. That man was Nathan Hale, a patriot of the highest type and a man whose immortal declaration just before he was led out to die, "My only regret is that I have but one life to give for my country," has made his name familiar to every school boy.

Nathan Hale, at this meeting in Miner's tavern, was one of the fiery speakers to keep faith with those who had died in the first engagement and he begged to "not lay down our arms until we have gained independence."

Nathan Hale was a prominent figure in those early days of the Revolution. He enjoyed the confidence of General Washington and the other leaders and when some important information was desired concerning the British troops about New York it was Nathan Hale who was entrusted with the perilous mission. He was detected and on September 22, 1776, executed under the most brutal circumstances, being denied a minister, or a Bible, and the privilege of sending letters to his mother and fiancée—Wayne D. McMurray.

Mother's Cook Book

The fundamental importance of carefulness and the fundamental disaster of carelessness are seen from the fact that carelessness really stands for truth and carelessness means untruthfulness—none the less untruthful because unaccountably so.—S. S. Times

EVERYDAY DISHES

AS VEGETABLES are the essential food to feed the family, a variety should be available at all times, if possible.

Fillet of Veal.
Divide a loin steak into as many portions as will be needed; pound and season each piece with salt and pepper and a bit of sage. Roll and fasten with wooden toothpicks. Roll each fillet in crumbs, then in eggs and crumbs again, salt and repeat the egg and crumbs. Run a sharp wire skewer through the fillets and suspend them over a dripping pan in a hot oven. Baste often with chicken fat or butter. Cook until a delicate brown and serve garnished with parsley.

Marshmallow Peaches.
Arrange halves of peaches on a dessert dish. Whip cream and sweeten. Spooning with a little almond. Place a spoonful of the whipped cream in the cavity of the peach with a fresh marshmallow on top. Serve with cookies or cake. A dish of nuts and raisins will serve as dessert on a busy day and will satisfy the family as well as saving the cook.

Spanish Chop.
Cook French chops to the bone and fill with the following stuffing: Six tablespoons of bread crumbs, three tablespoons of minced boiled ham, two tablespoons of mushrooms and two tablespoons of butter. Roll in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat until well browned.

Marie Maywell.
The young lady across the way says she has a friend who really ought to go on the concert stage and, though she's only eighteen and has been taking lessons only a few months, you can't tell her singing from that of the veteran type.

First in Sisk.
When you desire a piece of silk, buy it at the Sisk store. It is the only store in Kingston that has a full line of American-made furniture. It is interesting to know that American goods are sold in all the countries surrounding the world, with France second in production.

Better Florida Than Monte Carlo

It's Cleaner and You Can Lose Your Money There Amid More Brilliant Surroundings—Tropical "Dullness" of the French Riviera Shown in a Baggage Room.

Nice, French Riviera.

March 28th.

"Easier dull, we've been finding it, you know, on the Italian Riviera!"

She was a tall English girl, whose big athletic husband was wrestling with the confusion of the luggage in the station at Ventimiglia, while she talked with a British matron for all the world like Queen Victoria. Everything was being hauled out of the train to be passed through to the customs for examination. First it had to be identified, marked, and sent on by porters, to the room farther down the platform. People of all nations were asking in a babel of language for this, that, and the other, and for each there seemed to be something missing. A plaintive little German lady was beseeching someone to tell her where one got tickets for a hund—the "hund" being a contemptuous Pekinese whose head stuck out from under her arm. As for us, all we wanted was to identify and claim two large trunks that had been sent ahead by express as we had come by motor, and the car was reeling off time and money while we waited—to express them further on.

Yes it was simple enough—here were our slips of receipt, sign some documents, give the porter, who had us in charge the coupons, and go in to the customs depot—Madame had only to wait—all would be well, and our porter would be apical providence to us. Then began the process of waiting. A half hour went by—no seats—no could, perch on the great counter and dangle tired feet—some more minutes, and I trailed back to see what was happening. And well it was, for if no one had intervened we should be sitting there yet!

Did you ever see a dog fight—a particularly savage one? Well, such a rumpus of snarling and snapping were a quiet performance to what was going on between our porter and the official, both behind the counter among the luggage, with porters passing, trunks being hurled down, and hand carts wheeling in more contributions to the mountain that rose there. On our side the barrier complaints filled the air, while that row held the stage and all business was suspended while our baggage was being fought over. The big Englishman said indignantly, "Oh, I say, this is getting a bit thick!" Queen Victoria remarked that it was an outrage, and the little German lady was still pleading for "billets pour un hund" to travel into French territory—the entire place was a babel of European languages, clamoring for relief, and to get over the border. The only impassive face there was that of the Pekinese—the "hund"—whose little nose was turned up in a sneer under his guardian's arm.

What it was all about we shall never know, though our porter subsequently tried to explain that it was the meanness of the official, who had the labels all ready but declined to "affiche" them till after the London train went out! Ten francs seemed to arrange matters, though I had to climb over at risk of getting between their threatening fists, and one needed an umbrella for the deluge of oaths (presumably) and abuse that descended from both sides. We wondered if the English girl found it dull on the French Riviera!

The drive across this wonderful coast was worth all that it cost! First we came from Genoa to Alasio by the Corniche road of Italy—it is such a good name in both languages. "The Corniche road"—built along the cliffs with fine engineering skill. In parts it skirts the sea very closely, with its steep declivities protected with good walls, and then rises up in the mountain winding always over the water. Six hours in all of beauty and constant surprises, from Genoa to Alasio. The great stone pines, that lean over precipices, the sudden breathless curves that skirt the gulfs, the villages that nestle now in river valleys, now along the way in the hills, the villas embowered in Wistaria in full bloom, or Mimosa, and their tiny gardens a glow of color—pansies, wall flowers, tulips—all sorts of things that seem to us to be crowding each other into bloom—and then the sea always!

From Alasio to Nice is also beautiful, but different. The towns come more closely, and as we got further along, alas, the roadside bill-boards were distressingly frequent! The French tolerate them as the Italians do not. There are some in Italy, but not nearly so many, while the French Corniche road is being filled with them. The lower Corniche is the worst, and reminds one of the signs that run our own state roads. The letter we found from the president of our Ulster Garden Club, who has been in Mentone, made us feel as if we should have a meeting at once, and call, as we always do, home for "a report from the bill-board committee." It would probably have about as much weight as our efforts, thus far, have had in Ulster county!

Oh well, in between the bill-boards, are wonderful sights and experiences of beauty, and as in all life, one must shut the eyes to the ugly, and look around corners for the lovely! The upper Corniche road, from here, we have been over, and the wideness of the mountains, the old, old places that show up in the high valleys, and the roads that lead into what seems like wilderness make one long for walks—long hikes to far corners in the hills. A lone drive we took yesterday far up in the mountain cars on stanch of the sea down dizzy slopes. At Monte Carlo was a British war ship, looking like a fly, or a dull beetle, and off Mentone was a world-cruise vessel anchored—apparently small and fat—they both seemed from the great road above. Our drive from Alasio to Nice took us only five hours—not including the dog-fight at the border—and one wonders that any one ever does it by train. You can do the whole way by bus, and stop off at intervals, that should be a very lovely way to come.

We have achieved the trip to Monte Carlo and the Corniche! A huge, not too tidy, crowded place, not well lighted, the air incredibly stuffy, it was far from attractive. Around the tables, pushing for place were numbers of dull, ordinary looking folk, many of them who seemed to be of the most respectable small-town class of our fellow countrymen and women. There were many entirely nice, sweet looking elderly ladies, who might have belonged to one of our Kingston churches pushing their frames on the corner numbers (which I believe gives a chance of four "spliffs") or watching their piles disappear, where most of the money goes—taken in by the croupier! Of course there were queers in plenty and most of the people were foreign—but on the whole, serious, tired looking folk, most of them no longer young—fortiori—anything but gay! People whose business and life was gambling.

If you must gamble—if you can get any fun in watching a little ball roll itself into a pen when a wheel stops twirling, if you find such a child's play diverting, and don't mind losing your money, then you would much better buy a ticket to Florida, and go to Bradley's! It is at least clean, brilliant, gay! Monte Carlo is neither of those!

TRUCK OVERTURNS, DRIVER SLIGHTLY HURT.

Thursday morning about 11 o'clock a large Pierce-Arrow automobile truck owned by a Paterson, N. J. party overturned on the Kingston-Saugerties highway about half a mile south of the Glenelg hill. The truck was carrying a cargo of freight from the Manhattan Shirt Company in this city to New Salem and Greenwich and was in charge of Albert M. Norby who was slightly cut about the face. His assistant, Norman Corling was not injured. The damage to the truck which overturned when the driver endeavored to pull it out of a deep rut in the road was slight.

Series Game in Senior League

As both the Clinton Avenue Independents and the Church of the Redeemer quintets having finished their season's career in the Senior Sunday School League of the city equally qualified for the first place honors the first game of a three-game series will be played this evening at the Y. M. C. A. starting at 8:15. The second game of the series will be played on Wednesday evening, April 14, and the final game, Friday evening, April 16.

Each team has won ten games in the league race and have lost two giving each a standing of 82.5 percent. Last season the Clinton Avenue Seniors, a brother aggregation of the Independents won the Senior cup. The winner of this season's series will receive a leg on the three-year cup and will also be awarded a one-year permanent cup. Robert Corrigan and Irwin Gray will referee all three series matches, each officiating half a game.

Offer Kansas Bout.

New York, April 9.—Tex Rickard declared today that he would make an offer to Rocky Kansas, light-weight champion, to defend his title against Solly Seaman, of New York, during the summer months, either at the Yankee Stadium or Madison Square Garden. The offer will be held up pending Seaman's showing against Ray Romney in Buffalo on Monday.

SUZANNE AND HELEN MAY PLAY FOR CHARITY

Paris, April 9.—Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills may meet in a match for charity in California on New Year's, 1927, according to an announcement made today by William H. Pickens, representative of C. C. Pyle, who returned here today from Nee where he states he secured tentative acceptance by Mlle. Lenglen of an offer to go to the United States to appear in motion pictures. Mlle. Lenglen has set her own price for her appearance in the motion pictures and Pickens is now returning to the United States for conferences to determine whether the price set by Suzanne is acceptable to the American promoters.

CLEVELAND SPORTS A TWO-GAME LEAD IN SERIES

Cleveland, April 9.—Three teams of basketball players seeking two world's championship titles and another now holding that honor but in danger of losing it, were en route to New York today to stage the third and possibly last set of games of the 1926 series tonight.

They were the Cleveland and Brooklyn quintets of the American Basketball League with Cleveland holding a two-game lead in the series. The Cleveland boys copped the second clash of the American League series here last night, 36-33.

Carpenter Training.

New York, April 9.—Having signed to meet Eddie Hoffman, California light heavyweight, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden on May 21, Georges Carpentier planned to work out this afternoon at a local gymnasium with Hagen Hassan, Turkish heavyweight. The Frenchman declared that he was taking on Hoffman only with the idea of clinching a match with Paul Horlenbach for the light heavyweight title.

Stamford Five Here Tonight

This evening at St. Mary's Hall the strong Stamford Five will oppose the St. Mary's combination. The game will be followed by dancing, music being supplied by the Imperial Orchestra.

The Stamford quintet comes here with a snappy record and should give a good exhibition at the local court. In the line-up of the Saints will be Van Buren, Bruck, Mooney, Claire, Van Bramer and Rice.

Last Night's Fights.

At Terre Haute, Ind.—Bud Taylor outpointed Abe Goldstein of New York, former bantamweight champion, ten rounds.

At Yonkers, N. Y.—Joe Malone knocked out Billy Marlow in the first round of a scheduled six-round bout. Both men are bantamweights.

At Philadelphia—Mickey Pappier, Philadelphia, scored a technical knockout over Angel Guidici, Philadelphia, in the first round of a ten-round scheduled bout.

At McKeesport, Pa.—Johnny Hamm, Braddock, and Andy Tomasky, Wilkesburg, drew 10 rounds; George Meenehan, Sharon, defeated Johnny Horvath, Mansfield, Ohio, 10 rounds; Johnny Dunn, New Kensington, defeated Frank McFarland, McKeesport, six rounds.

Giants Need Three.

Norfolk, Va., April 9.—Two down and three to go, the New York Giants today were faced with the necessity of taking the three remaining games from the Washington Senators in order to win the series. It didn't look as though they would yesterday when Ruether and Marberry shut them out in Atlanta, 7 to 0.

FIT "SPECTACLES" TO BLIND HOLES

Many Clubs Have One or More of Them.

Methods of "fitting spectacles" to blind holes on golf links were discussed by Thomas J. Moore, a golf architect. While such holes, whose greens are invisible from the tee, are not so popular as they used to be, many clubs have one or more and do not care to rebuild them. Blind greens have been condemned by many because the player cannot see what he is shooting at, but more particularly because the ball cannot be kept in sight and the shooter is never sure when the green is clear of players.

Schemes for giving sight to blind holes will not overcome the first objection, but will cure the others. Larger clubs are remodeling such holes, but other alterations are possible.

The most picturesque plan has been made use of by the Victoria Country club in the capital of British Columbia. The thirteenth hole of this links, which lies partly among rugged rocks on the seashore, has its tee on some crags. The green is cut off from view by a ridge of granite and one day a golfer let fly a tee shot on this 200-yard hole without ascertaining whether the players ahead had holed out. The ball hit a man. Then players became wary and waited longer than necessary to tee off.

Finally a member presented a large schoolhouse bell, handsomely embossed, and had it installed at the edge of the green. When players have finished putting they sound this to see as they start for the fourteenth tee and those following know that the way is clear.

Another scheme is employed by the Moosejaw Country club in the broken prairie country of Saskatchewan. The club built a lookout platform at the toe of a blind hole and the players may send a caddy up the winding stairs of this tower to see that the way is open and to watch the flight and roll of the ball.

More romantic and just as effective, and requiring less effort, is the apparatus used by the Calgary Country club in Alberta. This is really a pair of spectacles, for the members have erected a large periscope at the left of the tee. The player may look into the bottom mirror and see that the green is vacant. Then he may place his caddy or opponent at the glass to watch the flight and final resting place of his ball.

The shaft of the periscope is some fifteen feet high, but as it is built of plain boards lined with tin paper, the cost is low. The arrangement of mirrors places the green in plain view although it is hidden in a deep valley beyond a high ridge.

FINALS TONIGHT IN EASTERN COURT EVENT

Glens Falls, N. Y., April 9.—The Pausic High School quintet of New Jersey and the Christian Brothers Academy five of Syracuse will fight it out in the final tonight for the Eastern States Scholastic Basketball Championship.

In the semi-final last night Christian Brothers Academy team defeated St. John's Prep of Danvers, Mass., in the first game of the evening 40 to 21.

In the second game of the semi-finals the first Glens Falls quintet lost to the Pausic High team, 1925 champions.

St. John's and the Glens Falls team will play for the consolation cup in the first game of the evening tonight.

DODGER EXCHANGE HELP TO MILLERS

Addition of Seven Players Makes Minneapolis Factor.

The deal whereby Johnny Butler went to Brooklyn in exchange for seven players has "made" the 1926 Millers in the opinion of Manager Mike Kelly.

Four infielders, two pitchers and an outfielder were added to the local roster by the transaction. This gave Minneapolis a surplus of seasoned players in virtually every department. Kelly figures that his infield worries are all cleared up, as Cotton Tierney and Horace Ford were Brooklyn regulars last year at second and shortstop. Tierney is booked for third, while Ford and Chuck Corran, Western league flash, will compete for the short field job.

Five southpaw pitchers, headed by Ruba Benton, are depended upon to circumvent the right field fence. Kelly has 12 right handers.

The heavy hitting 1926 outfit of Duncan, Smith and Fisher will be augmented by Schultz, bought from Cincinnati, and Loftus, former Dodger fly chaser.

Since the release of Eddie Ahnsmith and Butch Senstock, who failed to handle the backstop position creditably last year, Kelley has fortified himself with two able receivers in Ernie Krueger and Butch Byler, bought outright, respectively, from the Cincinnati Nationals and Oakland of the Pacific coast league.

Morgan's Record Better Than Tristram Speaker's

Charley Morgan, a catcher on the Macon team in the South Atlantic league, put himself in a class with the best of them last season when he smashed the record for consecutive hitting which Tristram Speaker hung up in 1920. Speaker's record was eleven straight and Morgan turned in an even dozen in a row.

The Macon backstop started his run in a game on May 31, when he hit safely in his last two trips to the plate. In his next game he got four hits out of four at-bats, duplicated the stunt in his next game, made a hit in his one time up in a fourth contest, and then poked one on his first time up in the fifth game.

Miss Ethel Lackie, Illinois A. C., extended by two-fifths of a second the world's record for the 50-yard free style swimming in an exhibition match at Philadelphia. The exhibition marked the dedication and formal opening of the Penn. A. C. pool. Her time was 27 seconds flat.

Ahead to Be Taxed $5

at Big Three Grid Games

Five dollars hereafter will be the price to attend for single tickets to football games played by the "Big Three," Yale, Harvard and Princeton—among themselves. It was announced at Yale last night and other universities. This is an increase from $3 a ticket to attend, while by the agreement single tickets to "members of the university community" shall be $1, or $1 less than hereafter.

Increases in revenue sought by the change in price will be applied "wholly in maintenance and development of general athletic facilities and not to increase budgets of football, basketball or other sports."

BIG LEAGUES WILL OPEN IN FOUR DAYS

New York, April 9.—Only four days to go to the official opening of the major league season but, from accounts today, some of the ball clubs are as much as a month "away" from championship speed. The National League field is particularly late in development this year, the St. Louis Cardinals being the only apparent exception worthy of note. The Cards have won a lot of ball games in the south.

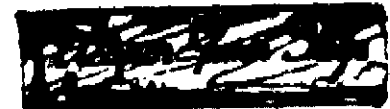

Of the American League entries however, no less than five, the Senators, Athletics, Browns, White Sox and Yankees, seem to be ready. It looks like a merry occasion with all the early speed mustered at the pole.

Yanks Keep on Winning.
Richmond Va., April 9.—Only one jump away from home, the Yankees and Dodgers came into town today. The Yankees have won also games on local soil, topping off their record with a 14 to 4 victory yesterday at Charlotte, N.C. Laverri and Koenig getting homers. The latter has been safely in seventeen straight games in all. The Yankees haven't been beaten in their last fourteen games in the south.

Grounded vs. Taber.
New York, April 9.—Bobby Greenleaf, former world's pocket billiard champion, announced today that he had posted a fortune of $2,000 on the Brunswick-Balke-Ordeman pool party for a championship match with Frank Taber, who defeated Greenleaf of the title last year.

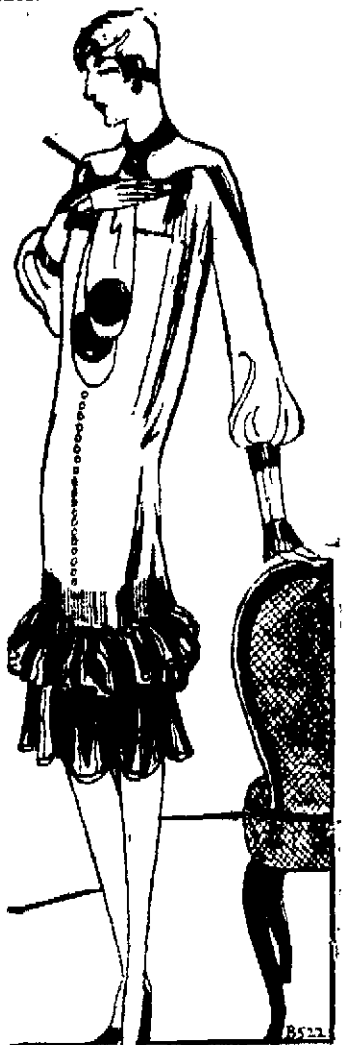

Catholic Fight.

Taffeta and Georgette Combined Are a Force With Which to Reckon This Spring—And Trimmings Assume Importance.

Occasionally one comes upon a model which combines several of the newest wrinkles, though the term as applied to fashions is perhaps unfortunate. A dress with a yoke, with a necklet or collar of some sort, a clipped in waistline and a ruche near its hem would seem to qualify as a dress which united most of the season's best details. Then learning that it involves such new associates as taffeta and georgette and that it is navy, one feels that it has done more than its duty as a model. Such is the dress sketched, a dress which has further talking points, as for instance, its new puffed sleeve, and its uncompromising brevity.

A Frock Combining Navy Taffeta and Georgette, the Yoke and Puffed Treatment Lending an Individual Air. The Sleeve With Its Band and Flare Cuff Commands Attention.

With the spring comes navy, always, if not in hordes but at least as a topic of conversation. This spring is different only in the degree in which it is worn. Green leads and black is again under advisement, tans, particularly the pink boys de rose, interpretations, and grays also have their place, but green must be given a position of preference.

Taffeta cuts give great promise of sweeping everything before them. While all of them are not quilted, it sometimes seems so, hats being quilted in sympathy. There is in fact, a tendency toward decorating a fabric by either pleating it, by smocking, by quilting or tucks, the peasant idea being interpreted in gowns such as no peasant could ever hope to achieve. Old-fashioned quilting bees are almost put to shame by the quilting, fests any smart dressmaking establishment holds almost incessantly.

Trimming, you see, are "in."

Bison of Mixed Breed

The American bison is the one existing species of the European wild ox. Bos (bison) bonasus, known in Russia as a zub, together with the nearly allied New world animal known in Europe as the North American bison, but in its own country as the buffalo. The American bison is distinguished from its European cousin by the following among other features: The hindquarters are weaker and fall away more suddenly, while the withers are proportionately higher; especially characteristic is the great mass of brown or blackish-brown hair clothing its head, neck and forepart of the body; the shape of the skull and horns is also different, the horns being shorter, thicker, blunter and more sharply curved, while the forehead of the skull is more convex, and the sockets of the eyes are more distinctly tubular.

Hamstringing

The term "hamstringing" denotes the cutting of the large tendon at the back of the hind leg, thus crippling an animal.

Surprise Package

Send Coupon for the Best Beauty Aids

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Some of my aids to beauty bring back and surprising results. They combine the best factors I have found in 40 years of world search. To them owe my beauty and youth more than to any others.

I have seen girls fairly transformed by them inside half an hour. And men seem to drop ten years.

One is my White Youth Clay. It purges the skin, combats lines and wrinkles, brings a youthful glow, and mirror will show an amazing change from the first application.

One is my Youth Cream, to follow the clay. It combines the best factors I have found to foster, feed and preserve the skin. Two of them are products of lemon and strawberry.

One is my Powder, the sort we age stars use. We who must ever look our best.

All toilet counters now supply these helps in the name of Edna Wallace Hopper. Send the coupon with 10 cents to cover postage and packing, and you'll receive a trial package—enough to test them all. Also my Beauty Book. I urge every girl and woman to accept this offer. It may lead to great results.

GOOD LUCK IS THE Spread for Bread TO USE ON THE Dining Table

The housewife can serve fresh, delicious GOOD LUCK on the table, please the family, and save money, and she should do so FRESH Jelke GOOD LUCK margarine has a delicacy of flavor that is delightfully appetizing. You smack your lips over a real table luxury when you eat GOOD LUCK; and really enjoy your bread and biscuits.

The secret of its excellence lies in the fact that it is a blended food. Several fats are combined to make it. Each contributes its quota of food value or flavor to the tasteful result. And each is the best of its kind.

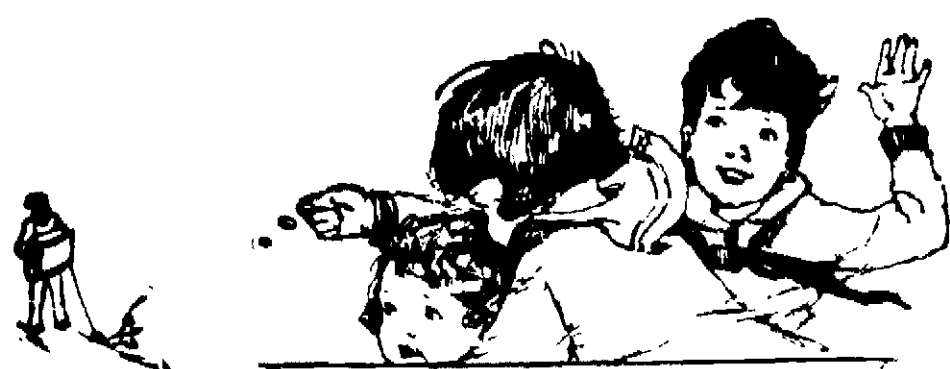

Every one of the ingredients is A-1. Nothing but the best is used. The best of fresh, rich, whole milk! The best of choice meat fats selected for excellence! That is why GOOD LUCK is so good. It's table quality throughout.

GOOD LUCK margarine shows that the blending method is the one right way to make the finest spread for bread. Better flavor, greater food value, assured purity are the results. It is a definite advance in the preparation of a food. It should be on your table. Try it.

Modern mothers reject the "he-might-just-as-well-have-it-now" theory

Many children are growing up without having had most of the so-called "children's" diseases, as a result of careful protection against contagion itself, and intelligent selection of growth foods that help to build resistance during the growth years few mothers now believe that child illnesses should be taken lightly.

Indeed, the vast majority now reject the old but harmful belief that it is a good thing to let them have the so-called "common" diseases just to get them over with.

Children during the early growth years suffer the most from child illnesses, because it is the time of greatest activity, strain and growth, and the period of least resistance.

But two measures are now known to be very effective in warding off child sickness.

One is protection against contagion itself during this period of easy susceptibility.

The other is the careful planning of child meals that increase vitality and resistance.

This is best done by including foods that are definitely known to contribute the growth and health-promoting elements that children need during the growth years.

Mother's Oats with milk are two of the most important of the few foods that contain in helpful amounts the one element in food that children during the growth years need the most, the indispensable tissue-forming protein.

A cup of each supplies 23% or nearly one-fourth of the growing child's daily requirement of this important body-building material.

The picture of a mother on the package of Oats that you get at the store is the trademark of the careful millers of Mother's Oats.

Indeed, these earnest millers have worked more than 50 years to make this friendly brand the most wholesome and nourishing of all the breakfast oats for growing children.

Mother's Oats

"THEY ARE WEARING"

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

At a fashionable church wedding the six bridesmaids wore orchid chiffon taffeta on bouffant lines, with the hem in irregular scalloped faced with sea green. One deep scallop was caught with an applique of flat silk flowers which was repeated on the right shoulder. The maid of honor wore sea green chiffon taffeta with a full overskirt separating to show a panel on the underskirt worked out in a scalloped pattern of rhinestones and beads.

Among the jumper frocks seen is a nude flat crepe with knife-pleated skirt and flat applique at the jumper hem. The lace applique also is used for the little round throat collar, ties and cuffs. Appliqued flat was seen on a navy blue taffeta dress on basque lines, the deep flounce and bertha collar being of the lace.

Last week a navy blue belting ribbon "chin chin" hat was seen, using, ecrú-colored Panama for facing and frayed ribbon edging for the band. Another hat of genuine beige hair braid, with rolling brim, had a boater's feather dropping to the shoulder. A matching hat and scarf set of navy blue grosgrain showed three rows of button-color grosgrain inserted in the upper part of the crown and at three ends of shawl collar. The hat was a petti bonnet shape, its only trim a tailored bow.

Worn with a gray crepe Elizabeth dress at tea was a blue chainmail coat which appeared to be reversible, using the dress fabric for lining. Corded seams at the back and sides of the coat appeared distinctive on this straightline, wrap-around model. The dress had taffeta piping on the overskirt, a self jabot and an ecrú cape at the back.

Regalia leathers predominate in sportwear. Sambocks with two belts, straps using gilt metal buckles at the side were fashioned with a medallion spike heel. An ankle strap style in lizard had with strap and high spike heel of parchment kid. Another pair used velvet and with brown lizard trim at toe and lizard for the ankle strap.

Several girls at a fraternity dance dance wore chiffon gowns of bright red. One was rhinestone-studded and used the pointed hem. The only trimming was a cape scarf on the right shoulder and a flower on the left. Another chiffon frock was white with diagonal bandings of crystal beads and rhinestones at front and back of bodice.

Frisco's Unique Colony of Italian Fishermen

On the San Francisco water front today you may find a fascinating bit of the picturesque Old world brought to America and made over into a thriving enterprise by the methods of science.

There, huddled along the Fishermen's wharf you may see a nest of 40 boats owned by a colony of Italian fishermen. Transplanted bodily—language, customs and boats—from the Mediterranean to the Pacific, these hard men are reaping a harvest of wealth in shining salmon from the deep sea currents of the Golden Gate. In their little boats, says Popular Science Monthly, they have replaced with gas engines the lateral sails used for centuries by their forefathers. In place of oldtime nets and hand hauls, they have substituted long, spring trailing rods with which fewer fishermen now can bring in a larger catch in one day than eight men formerly did in two.

By the use of modern appliances they have changed "fishermen's luck" into scientific skill that seldom fails. And as a result a single boat now averages $200 worth of fish at a time—subsidies reaching as high as $500.

Gas Explosion Kills Two Men

Erle, Pa., April 9.—Two men were instantly killed and another suffered serious injuries in an explosion of gas at the Perry Iron Works here today.

Dead—Roy Stockmill, 25 and James MacLain, 27.

Injured—T. D. Evans, 31, fracture of one leg and suffering from burns and shock.

The explosion occurred in a small "blower" tank through which waste gas flows. The blast rocked the entire east side of the city.

Thacher's Term Until Election

Judge Hasbrouck Rules That Mayor Hackett's Successor Can Hold Office Until Fall Election.

(Bany, N. Y., April 9.—Under a decision handed down today by Supreme Court Justice Hasbrouck, Mayor John B. Thacher, successor to the late Mayor William S. Hackett, can hold office only until this fall's elections. The case will be carried to the court of appeals.

Mayor Thacher was president of the common council when Mayor Hackett died in Havana last month. It was believed Thacher could serve out the unexpired four years of the late mayor's term.

If the higher court sustains Justice Hasbrouck's decision, Mayor Thacher will be nominated this fall by the Democratic party as its candidate for mayor, it was declared here today.

Oil Tank Fire Menaces Towns

Residents of Brea Move Out Following New Explosions—Eddies of Gas Sweeping Three Mile Acre.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., April 9.—A new menace from the blazing inferno of the Union Oil Company Tank Farm near here spread terror throughout the countryside today.

Cyclonic eddies of gas formed in the huge blaze which covers an area three miles long and one and one-half miles wide are sweeping out from time to time dealing destruction.

One today struck the home of Bert Banks, half a mile from the fire area, which had previously been partially destroyed and completely demolished it. A garage was picked up and carried across a road.

As a result the coast highway, main artery of travel between Los Angeles and San Francisco, had been closed and automobiles are forced to take a long detour around the fire area. The Edna road is also closed. American Legion guards are patrolling the roads.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 9.—Homes of 1,000 people in the little town of Brea, near here, were menaced today by the great fire on the Union Oil Company's Stewart Station Tank Farm, two miles from the village, where flames raged unchecked after destroying three huge 750,000 barrel reservoirs, several big gasoline and distillate tanks and the company's refinery with an estimated loss in excess of $5,000,000 during the past 24 hours.

Hundreds of Brea residents began to leave today, when the town was rocked to its foundations by the explosion of a number of high-pressure distillate and gas tanks.

Charges of dynamite have been planted in long rows between the town and the burning tanks to set off simultaneously if the fire begins to spread as it imminently threatens.

75 Missing in Ship Disasters

Tankers Collide and Explosion Follows in Vicinity of New Orleans—Five Ships Burned and Damaged.

New Orleans, La., April 9.—Seventy-five men are reported injured, missing or killed, and five ships are burned or damaged here today as the result of two major maritime disasters which occurred in the vicinity of New Orleans late yesterday, within a few hours.

Thirty or more seamen were unaccounted for early today, following a collision between the Standard Oil Tanker Thomas H. Wheeler, in-bound for New Orleans, with the Dutch Tanker Silvanus, out-bound for London, at Pointe a La Hache, 40 miles below New Orleans in the Mississippi River.

Forty-four men were injured and five were still unaccounted for today following a series of explosions aboard the Standard Oil Tanker O. T. Waring, in dry dock undergoing repairs here late yesterday afternoon. The missing men are believed to have leaped into the river when the explosions spread burning oil over the ship.

The collision between the Wheeler and the Silvanus, according to radio messages to the Tropical Radio Company, was followed immediately by a terrific explosion aboard the Dutch vessel. The master of the Silvanus, Captain Weister, and several members of the crew of 50 were picked up by the United States Shipping Board Vessel Tapa Tapa, out-bound for Scotland. Twelve Chinese sailors were landed at Pointe a La Hache.

A later message said one sailor was rescued by the Steamer Gulf Coast, and a mate was also picked up by the Steamer Raja California.

The Silvanus ran aground near the scene of the collision, and a second blast forced her back into the stream. A stiff current carried the blazing vessel down stream. The Thomas H. Wheeler was safely beached, and fire aboard her, which followed the collision, was extinguished without serious damage. The Silvanus later sank opposite Bohemia, a mile below Pointe a La Hache. Captain Weister was badly burned when he was picked up.

The vessel was almost sinking as she drifted down stream. Members of the crew leaped into the water, which was covered with a film of blazing oil. Fifteen of the rescued sailors arrived in New Orleans this morning.

FLIGHT OF LOS ANGELES TAKES PLACE MONDAY.

Washington, April 9.—The dirigible Los Angeles on Monday will make its first flight since its sister ship, the Shenandoah, crashed over Ohio last fall, the Navy Department announced today.

The flight had been scheduled for tomorrow but was postponed because the Los Angeles has not been filled with helium. Gas was being pumped into the bags today, and the ship will be taken out at Lakehurst on Monday.

Eddyville Fire Truck Arrives

A few days ago the American La France chemical fire truck for which the Eddyville Volunteer Fire Department contracted in December, arrived at the O. & W. station. While being driven down Broadway on its way to Eddyville, it attracted considerable attention and much favorable comment was expressed not only by members of Kingston's paid department but by a number of bystanders as well. The chassis is a Brockway highway express of the latest model with American La France equipment throughout, which consists of four 35 gallon chemical tanks, coupled in pairs, with 200 feet of one inch hose attached to each pair of tanks, two three gallon hand extinguishers, extension ladder, roof ladder, fire axe, crowbar, and other requisites which go to make up a complete fire fighting unit. The four tanks of chemical are equal to approximately 1,600 gallons of water and four extra charges are carried in containers mounted on the truck.

Last Saturday afternoon a demonstration was given of the truck in operation and to say that the firemen and the residents of Eddyville as well were greatly pleased, is putting it mildly.

The firemen are planning to erect a fire house in the near future and are holding a dance at Schumann's on Saturday night, April 10, to help raise funds for this purpose.

Three Die, Score Hurt in Wreck

Engineer and Fireman Die of Scalds and Passenger Is Killed Outright — Hit a Sharp Curve at Great Rate of Speed.

Camden, N. J., April 9.—The wreck of the crack Pennsylvania Express from New York to Atlantic City near Delair, N. J., with a toll of three deaths and more than forty persons injured, was due to the train striking a sharp curve at too great a rate of speed, according to the belief expressed by Prosecutor Ethan P. Wescott of Camden county, conducting one of five investigations into the cause of the disaster.

Prosecutor Wescott said his investigation has revealed no cause for criminal action to date. The comparatively low loss of life was attributed to the steel cars in the nine-car train, and the application of the brakes by O'Connor, the engineer, apparently before the locomotive hurled the train.

Members of the train crew said they believed O'Connor could have saved his life by jumping but resolved to "stick to his cab in an attempt to halt the train."

Describes Wreck.

Survivors, today describing the disaster, agreed that there was a sudden crash, a buckling of the forward cars, darkness, splintering glass, and then screams.

"I was in the first car," said Louis E. Spellman, of New York city. "The train was going about fifty miles an hour. My wife and daughter were with me."

"Suddenly there was a terrific jolt. The front end of the car seemed to cave in. I was hurled into the air and didn't know anything more until I was pulled out."

Dr. Esse B. Thompson and his wife, of Atlantic City, were in the second car and received severe bruises.

"There was a sudden smash and we were thrown against the seat in front," said Dr. Thompson. "The car ahead of us seemed to be over on its side and people were crawling out of the windows. Everything was confusion and shouting."

"We got out somehow and saw the engine and tender were overturned and that the engineer was terribly scalded. Someone said the fireman was buried under the engine."

William K. Mintz, a furrier of New York, was killed outright.

John O'Connor and Anthony Raynkaj respectively engineer and fireman of the train, died of scalds.

NEW BRITISH LAW HITS "ELDEST SON"

Makes Radical Change in Order of Heirship.

The reign of the eldest son as sole heir to the family mansion and estate in Great Britain is at an end. Since the first day of January a new law has prevailed which will hereafter compel him to share his heritage not only with his brothers but with his sisters. Thus has the term "son and heir" lost much of the significance with which it has been invested not less in real life than in fiction. It is a most radical change, because for centuries the general custom in England has been that, upon an intestacy, the eldest son shall succeed to his father's "real" property—that is to say, his freehold lands and houses and the belongings—to the exclusion of his mother, brothers and sisters.

The law was introduced by the Normans and established as part of the feudal system of land tenure, and the origin of the preference shown for the eldest son would seem to have rested upon thoroughly practical grounds, because in feudal times land was held, for the most part, either direct from the king, or through some intermediate lord, under a form of tenure which carried with it an obligation on the part of the tenant to render some personal service to his landlord. The duty required of the tenant was, usually, either of a military kind, such as to serve his lord as knight, or else of an agricultural nature, for example, to plow the lord's fields. It was obviously desirable that one man should be made responsible for the required service, and upon the death of a tenant his eldest son was presumed to be the person best fitted to take over his land and his obligations.

That this "eldest son favoritism" has so long prevailed, shows how loath the English are to abandon old customs. As in the past, so in the future, the eldest son's share of his father's property may exceed that of his brothers and sisters; but, if it does, it will be under the terms of a will and not because of any natural superiority in the eyes of the law.

Mending Shoes at Home

Macmillan's have almost disappeared. Is it now the cobbler's turn? It would seem so, if mending takes to mending its own shoes with a new leather after that comes in a tube.

The shoe is poured on the worn part of a shoe and shaped by the fingers to the correct form, according to Popular Science Monthly. Ten minutes exposure to the air dries the liquid and it becomes an artificial leather that is said to be more lasting and waterproof than natural leather. The shoe is also useful for mending rubber goods.

Journal Fails Justice Theft

A new British act, of covering neckties with strings hanging down the back, is viewed with alarm by Scotland Yard. Detectives assert that peddlers are thus offered temptation to the thief, who can snatch them with more safety than when worn in the regular manner, with the strings of jewels at the throat. —Birmingham Tribune.

Young Robinson Has Recovered

Rochester, N. Y., April 9.—Almost fully recovered after his days of loss of memory, Douglas Robinson, 20-year-old Harvard student who turned up here, dazed, after his mysterious absence from Cambridge, was discharged from St. Mary's Hospital here today and left at once for Avon, Conn., in company with his father, Theodore Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy, and his mother.

The Robinsons were to go to the Avon home of J. W. Alsop, brother-in-law of the young student's father, where Douglas was to take a rest before returning to Harvard.

Douglas showed fatigue but apparently had regained full possession of his mental faculties. He seemed happy over being reunited with his father and mother and the prospect of returning to college.

Before departing, he said: "What happened to me during the six days I was away from Harvard is a complete blank. I woke up in the hospital yesterday to find everybody was making a commotion over me but I didn't understand what it was all about."

The elder Robinson remarked that "it's just as if you or I had lost a week of our lives. Douglas simply can't recall anything."

Douglas, the father said, knew nothing about the girl whose picture was found in his pocket. He said Douglas is not engaged and has not been attentive to any particular girl.

Jane Kelly, daughter of a prominent family here, said she met Douglas the first time at the Amherst Glee Club Concert in Hotel Seneca Tuesday night. He seemed perfectly normal and, she said, expressed a desire to see her the next time she visited New York city.

Overnight News Told in Brief

New York, April 9.—A three year agreement providing a wage of $14 a day has been signed by representatives of the Mason Builders' Association of New York and the executive committee of the Bricklayers' Union of New York and Long Island.

Lowell, Mass., April 9.—The lives of 13 persons and three dogs overcame by coal gas were saved by Dr. Charles Sweetser and motorcycle policeman after seven physicians had failed to respond to calls.

Philadelphia—Noah's ark recognized no 12-mile limit, serving beef and wine in abundant quantities whenever Noah and his sons got thirsty, according to a rendering of an ancient tablet given by Professor Paul Haupt, Johns Hopkins University, before the American Oriental Society.

Albany, N. Y.—Shortage of time has compelled the state income tax bureau to use the radio for explaining the new method of filing returns. The stations to be used are WEAJ, New York; WGY, Schenectady; WGR, Buffalo; WHAZ, Troy; WIBX, Utica; WFBL, Syracuse, and WHAM, Rochester.

Ossining, N. Y.—Possibility of a wooden leg being used as bludgeon has led Warden Lewis E. Lawes to order Michael Kosmoski, Buffalo slayer serving a life term in Sing Sing, deprived of his wooden leg at night. During the day the artificial member is restored to Kosmoski.

New York—A trolley car crashed through a plate-glass window of a Brooklyn restaurant, reducing it to ruins. No one was injured.

March! 16,265 Cars Greatest Nash Month— Greatest Ajax Month

February—with Nash-Ajax sales totaling 14,148 cars — set a new high mark for both Nash and Ajax—but March, with 16,265 cars, swept beyond even that great record.

And still factory production was not sufficient to fill additional bona fide March orders for 1,518 cars.

For Nash it was the 19th consecutive month that sales have exceeded the figure achieved by the corresponding month of the previous year—except for November, 1925, when production was slowed up to bring into manufacture the new "Enclosed Car" motor.

This great and growing national trend among buyers toward Nash and Ajax cars is assuming the proportions of a veritable landslide.

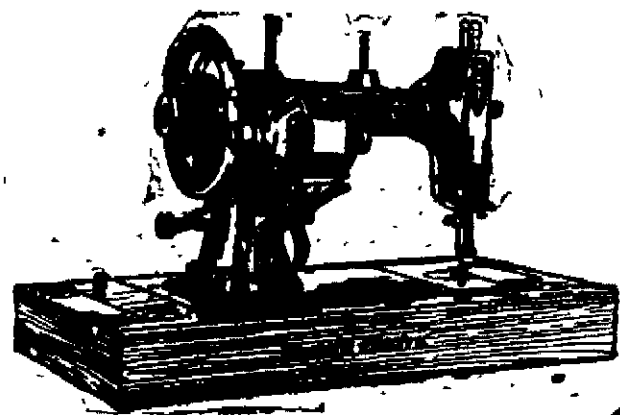

All because Nash-Ajax means greater Quality, greater Value, and far finer Performance—and people can't be told otherwise. It is only too apparent when you look at the cars.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Question—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer—The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof. Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When you build, use brick exclusively. There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in maintenance. Building brick and sand. TERRY BROTHERS CO. Tel. 1474.

Mysteries Found in

Dead Letter Office

No place in the world, perhaps, holds as many unsolved mysteries in as many odd forms as does Uncle Sam's dead letter office in Washington, says Popular Science Monthly.

Not only is this mail morgue the final resting place for letters and parcels that go astray because of faulty addresses, but it is also the repository for contraband goods, such as fire arms, alcohol and narcotics, as well as deadly bombs and infernal machines. There an ordinary package has been found to conceal enough dynamite to wreck a building. There, too, innocent-looking parcels have given up everything from a live snake or a poisonous tarantula to a flock of geese. More than 60,000 carefully addressed letters arrive every day in this government morgue, which received 21,000,000 letters and 803,000 parcels last year. In this number are 100,000 letters which have been mailed in entirely blank envelopes, many containing large sums of money.

The cash found in misdirected mail amounts to about $35,000 annually.

To Stop Turkeys Flying

A short piece of light board fastened across a turkey's back will prevent the bird from flying over a fence, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Cut notches or bore holes in the board and tie with a strip of cloth to each wing, further directs the bullet. When the wings are raised, they then strike against the board and flying is prevented. The length of the board, adds this authority, should be about the same as the thickness of the turkey's body from side to side.

Envy Her?

MRS. SHERWOOD ALDRICH

Though she is suing her millionaire husband for a separation in New York, Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich testified he "was a fine, generous man" before they parted. She admitted they had spent $150,000 a year to live and he had given her $117,000 in jewelry. Now she asks $85,000 cash and $75,000 a year alimony.

Hogarth an Ad Writer

Hogarth, the famous British artist and caricaturist, was at one time an advertisement writer. Before the days of newspapers the enterprising shop keepers used hand dodgers or tradesman's cards which bore the name of the shop keeper and carried wording or pictures to describe his business. A collection of these old tradesman's cards have been found to have been drawn by Hogarth.

No Substitute for Rubber

Chemists have been working for some time to produce a synthetic rubber, but it is safe to say that nothing has as yet been produced from any source whatever which is of commercial value in replacing crude rubber, nor do the best informed minds on this subject believe that the production of a synthetic rubber in commercial quantities is even in sight.

JACKIE COOGAN, the Kid Hamlet, in "THE RAG MAN"

Where else would you find the comedy possibilities of such a film as Kelly and Glueberg? Here's a story of a 10-year-old Irish-American kid turned out of an orphanage who becomes the partner of an old Jewish junk dealer. It's the funniest and yet the most human of Jackie's pictures; a story out of the heart.
